

Sergeant First Class Paul Loos is a US Army Special Forces Medical Sergeant assigned to 1st Special Forces Command at Fort Bragg, NC as the NCOIC of the Non-Standard Medical Detachment in the Office of Special Warfare. He was previously assigned to the Special Warfare Center and School's Joint Special Operations Medical Training Center as the Chief Instructor for the Special Forces Medical Sergeant Skills Sustainment Course and to 10th Special Forces Group on Operation Detachment Alpha 0211. Prior to graduating the Special Forces Qualification Course SFC Loos was a 68W Combat Medic with multiple deployments to Iraq as an Infantry and Scout Medic. He is the author of the Joint Trauma System Clinical Practice Guideline (CPG) on Prehospital Documentation in Prolonged Field Care Settings and has also co-authored other Prolonged Field Care CPGs including "TBI Management in PFC." He is a member of the Special Operations Medical Association. He is the founder and Editor of the website, www.ProlongedFieldCare.org.